

The Revd Claire Burnett

Claire grew up and came to faith in and around Blackburn, Lancashire and, following her studies at the University of Durham, worked in hospitality, retail and buying before moving to Lincolnshire sixteen years ago. She soon began work teaching at a preparatory school where she then also took up a role as resident tutor. It was during this time that Claire decided to explore the call to ordained ministry which she had felt since her teenage years and after being recommended for ordination training, moved to Westcott House in Cambridge to study with the Cambridge Theological Foundation alongside some formative placements with St Augustine's and St Paul's churches in Cambridge.

After ordination, Claire moved to serve her curacy in the Market Rasen Group of parishes before taking up the post of Rector in which she has served for five years. Two years ago she also became Priest-in-Charge of the Walesby Group of parishes. She thoroughly enjoyed her time among these parishes and will be sad to leave them, despite being hugely excited to take up her new role. Claire moves to Humberston with her husband, Steve, two children, two dogs, a cat, two guinea pigs, three hens and some tropical fish! In her spare time Claire enjoys amateur theatre, swimming, golf and spending time with family and friends.
