

On generosity the starting point is always regular, committed prayer. We need a significant, lengthy piece work to develop a Christian understanding. It's not just about coming to church but theology and understanding God's generosity. Churches need to look at their generosity towards their communities and explain the nature of church finances to them. The generosity already out there should be recognised.