

Growth is based on persistent invitation and the celebration of community. It cannot be too inward looking. The 'returners' we used to rely are no longer there. So, we need to make our message more accessible because of the lack of Christian literacy. We need to be confident that what we have to share is good and build on the lessons learnt about, e.g., Zoom during Covid.